The AORN Mission

AORN is the professional organization of perioperative registered nurses whose mission is to promote quality patient care by providing its members with education, standards, services and representation.

If you were fortunate enough to have attended the October Chapter meeting at The Woodlands Children's Museum, you shared in a delightful and inspiring experience. Your chapter has been instrumental in the success of this venture since its inception. It has supported the museum with its time, money and other resources. The positive effect it has on the children who come from all over the U.S. will be felt for years to come. An important component of the museum's many offerings is the mock Operating Room. Children have a hands-on experience with perioperative nurse volunteers and are exposed through them to the nursing profession with emphasis on the perioperative arena. We are planting seeds. We are preserving Our Future.

As I compose my Gratitude List at this time of thanksgiving, I include our faithful AORN museum volunteers, Shirley Granger, Pat Hoge, Karen Kurland, Ann McKennis and others who are sharing their time and talents on our behalf and that of perioperative nursing. My Gratitude List also includes being able to be a part of a professional organization that provides its members with extensive educational opportunities, a multitude of avenues to connect with and learn from perioperative colleagues and one that has a set of practice statements giving sound direction for our practice setting. I am grateful that we have special week set aside to recognize and celebrate all perioperative nurses. My hope is that you are or have had a wonderful OR Nurse Week and that you have been recognized by your peers, industry partners and the facility where you work. Know that I for one recognize your professional worth and your value to this organization. Take a moment to applaud yourself and your colleagues. Those to whom you provide safe and outstanding care are blessed to have you. Thank you.

At Your Service,

Shirley Dukes

AORN Perioperative Nurse Week

November 12-18, 2006 • We're There for Safe Care

Ever wonder how National Perioperative Nurse Week came to be? During a House of Delegates meeting in 1979, a resolution was approved proclaiming that AORN would designate a day every year to advocate the role of the perioperative registered nurse and the impact he/she has on the surgical patient. Historically, one day turned into a week, to become National Perioperative Nurse Week. In the words of our President, Paula Graling, "we have dedicated this year's theme, "We're There for Safe Care," as an inspiration to the visibility of the perioperative nurse and a reminder that patient safety is one of the key elements of our daily practice. Let us champion quality improvement efforts and standards of implementations in areas such as safe medication administration, fire safety, wrong site surgery, surgical counts and error reduction. We have the power to impact the delivery of safe care, which is of vital importance to all of us at the core of our professional values."

As advancing technology encroaches into the arena of the operating room with computers, paperless charting, and minimally invasive procedures, the basic fundamentals of aseptic technique, sterile consciousness, and critical thinking skills are entities that are unique to the practice of the perioperative nurse. We not only touch the lives of our patients, but of our colleagues as well. Let's let down our masks and become an advocate for safe patient care. Have a great week. -

Legislative News

As the General Election nears its final moments, we find that there are last minute campaign pleas and political rhetoric among the candidates. Early voting ended 10/27/06 leaving the remainder of the eligible voters to cast their ballot on 11/07. The important thing is that you practiced your right and VOTED.

Issues on the ballot for this General Election include elections for U.S. Senators, U.S. Representatives, governors, state representatives, and judicial offices. To pass on a bit of trivia, there are 33 Senate seats up for grabs. Do you know who your Senate candidate is for Texas? Also varying other offices are up for grabs depending upon where you live.

A brief summary of nursing issues on the forefront at the Capitol Hill include: Sen. Hilary Clinton (D-NY) collaborated with ANA and the American Association of College of Nursing to draft the Nursing Education and Quality Health Care Act of 2006, (S. 4029) which was introduced 09/26/06; President Bush signed into law the Older American's Act of 2006 (P.L. 109-365) on 10/17/06. This law will help re-enact existing programs such as the Positive Aging Act which will help address the need for mental health services among the elderly; CMS dept. has made a proposed ruling to require all long term care (LTC) facilities to install fire sprinklers as part of a new fire safety program; ANA is working with the Congressional Nursing Caucus addressing concerns about the respiratory protections guidelines that were included in the 11/2006 National Pandemic Flu Plan. The plan is being criticized for recommending that health care workers wear surgical masks vs. respirators; The Dept of Health & Human Services (HHS) Agency for Health care Research and Quality (AHRQ) is collaborating with United Health Foundation to pass out 400,000 copies of the 2006 Guide to Clinical Preventive Services, a guide to evidence-based clinical preventive recommendations; lastly, an ANA hosted forum was held where nurses from Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana met to discuss nursing staffing. This was one of ANA's "Coming to You" series promoted by ANA President, Rebecca M. Patton, MSN, RN, CNOR.

AORN continues to pursue legislation in target states addressing the RN Circulator initiative. A bit closer to home Texas perioperative colleagues are preparing a nursing agenda with TNA's Nursing Legislative Agenda Coalition (NLAC) for the upcoming Texas biennium. ## Name Badge Required, Coat & Tie

Optional Did ya know that licensed nurses are required to wear some type of "insignia" when practicing nursing that displays to the public the type of licensure that the nurse holds, i.e. RN vs. LVN. Board of Nurse Examiners Board Rule 217.10 (b) further delineates the nurse's responsibility in wearing a name badge while at work. Board Rule 221.2 (b) requires that advanced practice nurses use the title authorized by the board, plus the RN license designation. The authorization of an ANP scope of practice is dependent upon the RN license. The NPA & rules are not prescriptive to credentials from certifying bodies for instance APRN-BC or CCRN. These are unregulated titles and not required by the BNE.

RESEARCH REPORT

A surgery management protocol helps children with diabetes prepare for surgery.

Children's Hospital Boston has developed a surgical management protocol with the support of the Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality for children with diabetes undergoing surgery. These children face a complex neuro-endocrine stress response that can lead to hyperglycemic and diabetic ketoacidosis. NPO requirement prior to surgery may compound these metabolic effects and the resulting hyperglycemia can impair wound healing and the body's infection fighting ability needed to recover from surgery.

The protocol consists of the anesthesiologist scheduling a pre-op consult to assess the child's metabolic control with the pre-op clinic and endocrine service at least ten days before surgery and when feasible, elective surgery for children with diabetes should be delayed until metabolic control is acceptable. To avoid prolonged fasting and early return to diabetes treatment regimens, these children should be scheduled as the first case of the day when possible.

The child's typical treatment regimen should be what the perioperative management plan is based on. Before, during, and after surgery the perioperative goal for the diabetic child is to maintain near-normal blood glucose levels of about 100-200 mg/dl. Before anesthesia is started a blood glucose determination is done and the insulin and fluid regimen during and after surgery depend on the duration of the procedure. Frequent post-surgical blood glucose and blood and urine ketone monitoring is essential. —Pat Hoge
